Chapter 1

Asadian

Legendary Warrior of The Egypt

Long, long ago there was a great ruler ‘Mahmood Hamad al Asad’. He had some magical powers with the help of which he made Egypt a peaceful country. His wife, Hamza, was not only beautiful but also clever. They had a son – ‘Mahmood Juneed al Asad’. He was very handsome. Prince Juneed started learning battle skills and magical powers from his father. By the time he entered teenage, he had learned almost all the battle skills and some magical powers. King Hamad had a minister named ‘Odamy’, who was very clever. He used to give advices to the King, which helped him to rule tactfully.

One day Prince Juneed came to his father and asked him “Father...! What is ‘Trisal Arsleen’, I heard that word when our servants were talking among themselves”. Father Hamad said “Dear son, it is a great sword, and it had a great history”. Prince Juneed astonishingly said “Great sword...! Where is it...? And tell me about its great history”. King Hamad replied “Ok, my dear son, I will tell you that great history of the sword”. Prince Juneed listened to his father’s words carefully. King Hamad started narrating the story “My dear son, my father told me that our Ancestors had great magical powers, and they fought against evil power and saved Egypt and its people. They had five elemental powers: Sikkin al Ardh – it contained the power of earth, Sikkin al hareek – contained the power of fire, Sikkin al Hawaa – contained the power of air, Sikkin al Maah – contained the power of water and Sikkin al Samaah that contained the power of sky. With the help of those powers, they changed the scenario of Egypt. One day, they fought against a bad demon ‘Thaksaan’. He was also very powerful and had great strength. These five Kings with elemental powers used their powers individually. But they didn’t succeed. They were all defeated. But at the last moment, they combined their powers and got a great sword ‘Trisal Arsleen’. It had a great radiance. With the help of sword, the King of Sky fought with the demon and executed him. The other four Kings realized that if their four elements get mixed up with sky, then ‘Trisal Arsleen’ is formed. After the battle, they divided the ‘Trisal Arsleen’ into five swords. One is the Sky, second one is the Fire, third one is the Water, fourth one is the Air and fifth is Earth. After some years the Kings of water, sword, fire sword, earth sword and the air said to King of Sky “Dear King we are not married, and we don’t have children so we want to handover our respective swords to you and keep them in your custody or else we can make ‘Trisal Arsleen’ again”. The King of Sky again transformed the swords to ‘Trisal Arsleen’. King of Sky had a son and had taught some magical powers to his son. After some time, the King of Sky also died, and the ‘Trisal Arsleen’ was kept in front of his tomb. It was kept in such a position that the body of the sword was beneath the earth and the hilt was above the earth. My father was the great grandson of King of Air, and he could not know where the tomb was built. He had sent his servants to find out the tomb, but they didn’t turn up yet. After the death of King of Air, no demon dared to attack the Egypt. This is the great history of 'Trisal Arsleen', my dear son".

The Prince asked his father "Dear father, if you permit me, I can try to discover the tomb and the sword". King Hamad replied "No son, it is very dangerous and apart from this, it's not useful to us anymore". The Prince said "Yes dad, it is not useful to us but it was useful to our posterity". King Hamad fell in a deep thought. He decided to share his worries with Odamy, and called him "Odamy... my son wants to find the sword 'Trisal Arsleen'. What is your opinion about this?" Odamy replied "My lord, I think this is the right time and situation to test his abilities and battle skills". King Hamad said to Prince "Ok, but you have to find the sword alone, and I will take back your magical powers which you learnt from me". Prince replied in positive. King Hamad took back his powers, and giving him a locket, he said to his son "Now you are an ordinary person, but you must wear this locket. It may protect you at times of danger". Prince accepted and wore the locket.

Next day, the Prince started his journey after taking blessings of his parents. He travelled towards East. He reached a village called 'Abydose'. The people there saw the Prince as an unknown visitor. Some people were wearing masks and robbing money from the people of Abydose. They are the robbers who visited Abydose regularly. They used to rob the valuable possessions of the innocent people. Prince asked them "Why do you rob money from poor people?" Hearing the Prince's enquiry, they got angry and came to beat the Prince. In defence, the Prince bravely attacked those masked people. He took all the looted possessions and distributed it among the poor people. The robbers ran away. The people there expressed their gratitude to him and treated him like a hero. An old man standing there asked the Prince who he was and where he was coming from.... The Prince replied “I am the Prince of Egypt”. Listening to his introduction, they stepped a back. To ease the situation, the Prince said “Don’t be frightened, I am happy with your hospitality”. The old man said “Why did you come here?” The Prince responded “I am in search of a tomb, in front of which a sword was buried”. The old man said “Oh...! My father used to tell me about the sword”. Prince reacted instantly “Really!” The old man said “Yeah, but it is very difficult to get hold of the sword. Many people lost their lives in search of the sword. If you want the sword, you must cross four levels that stand as the barricade to reach the sword. They are river, rocks, whirl winds and volcano. It will be very difficult for you to cross those harsh levels, please go back, Prince!” Prince said “I didn’t come here to go back empty-handed. I will definitely achieve the goal. Please tell me in which direction should I travel to reach the sword”. The old man said “You have to travel straight to the village, and then you will reach a place named Esna. After reaching Esna, you must travel along the village until you get the river Nile. After crossing the river, you will get rocks, after which there is a place which contains only whirl winds. After getting these levels cleared, you will get a volcano. The volcano is however in a dormant stage. You have to reach the tomb as fast as possible”. The Prince thanked the old man for his valuable advice. After that, he travelled towards east of the village. After travelling for two days, he reached the village Esna. He again started travelling to reach Nile. After a long journey at last, he reached the Nile river. However, it was difficult to cross the river because the flood of the river was very high. The Prince stood on the bank of the river and prayed the Almighty “Oh God! Give me strength to swim the river”. After saying this, the Prince jumped into the river and started swimming. Few time later, he reached the other end of the river.

Before reaching the other side, the locket, which he was wearing, started shining. After crossing the river, he again started travelling. After travelling for one day, he saw some rocks. But the Prince was completely drenched and hungry, so he decided to take some rest and eat something before continuing his journey. He munched up the food which he brought with him. After eating the food, he took some rest under a tree and felt asleep. He was too tired that he slept for whole day. In the next morning when the Prince woke up and saw his surroundings, he was shocked by seeing the current position of the rocks. The situation was worse than before. In adverse condition, there was a possibility of losing his life. Despite of any situation, he had no intensions to turn a back. He gathered all his courage and started mounting the rocks. But while doing so, he wounded himself – his right leg. He pushed aside the pain and continued his journey. He travelled all along with his wounded leg and reached a place where there were only whirl winds all around. He was fully determined to travel through it. But the terrible whirl winds lifted him up and threw away. Lifting himself, he again went forward to cross the whirl wind, but all his effort went in vain. The whirl wind again lifted him up and threw away. After failing repeatedly, he got angry. An idea struck, and he tied up a big rock to his hip and started walking through the whirl winds. The idea gave him success, he won victory over the terrible winds and crossed it. After winning over the winds, he travelled through some trees; in the mean time, he wounded his right hand, but he didn't bother the bleeding. Despite bleeding, he carried on his journey. He reached a big volcano, which he easily crossed. And from there, he would see his final destination – a tomb having a sword in front of it. He felt happy and wanted to reach the sword. As he was heading towards his goal, suddenly the volcano erupted and lava started flowing out. The lava started chasing him, seeing that the Prince started running and ignored all the adverses and focussed on his goal. Finally, he reached the tomb. As he touched the sword with his wounded hand, the lava stopped its flow and went back to the volcano. On the tomb, something was inscribed. But he dragged out the sword. He had a desire to read is the written lines on the tomb. It said “I know Asad, you will surely come here for this sword. Only Asad’s can reach this tomb. The sword in your hand is not an ordinary sword, it had great power in it. It contains the power of Water, Air, Fire, Earth and Sky. It is a made up of five swords. The sword had another form ‘Sikkin Al-noor’ in this stage, the power of the sword increases twice than enemy’s power. There is another secret to tell when anyone in our heritage had the immortality boon, the sword will get another form that is the sword of Asadian. The immortal who holds the sword at that time will change to Asadian. Asadian form is the only greatest form which had a great strength. No one is capable to fight against it. In our heritage, I hope for an Asadian, and the time will tell you who is the Asadian. God bless you Asad!” After reading that the tomb got vanished. And his wounds too recovered by own. Fe returned to his Kingdom with the sword....

There in his Kingdom Evil Emperor, ‘Tasaan’ had over crowned the Kingdom. King Hamad couldn’t stand upon his magical powers and got defeated by Tasaan. Tasaan imprisoned the King, Queen and Odamy. Queen Hazaa died in the prison. Demons spread all over Egypt and started crucifying the people. Prince Juneed returned to his Kingdom. The Prince was shocked to see the demons in his Kingdom. He started killing the demons. Half of the demons were killed by the Prince. The present state of the Kingdom made him more furious. He used the second stage of ‘Trisal Arsleen’s’, ‘Sikkin Al-noor'. By that form of the sword, Prince got an extra great strength. He stood in front of Tasaan and regained the thrown by cutting him into two pieces. After the death of Tasaan, all his demon army present in Egypt were destroyed. Prince Juneed felt very sad by hearing the news of his mother's demise. King Hamad felt very proud and was happy by seeing his Prince along with the sword. By the death of demon Tasaan, Egypt was again a peaceful Kingdom. After few years, Juneed was married with a beautiful girl 'Safeena', and King Hamad announced the Prince as the new King of Egypt. Within a few months, Hamad also died and King 'Juneed al-Asad' started ruling Egypt. The people of Egypt felt peace and was satisfied under his rule. After one year, Safeena gave birth to a baby boy. The King name him 'Abul Hasan al-Asad' and said 'He will be the successor of my Kingdom, He will be the next King of Egypt'. Abul Hasan spent his childhood with King Juneed. He used to listen to stories from his father passionately. After some years, Prince Hasan entered into teenage and King Juneed sent him to a master to learn battle skills – 'Fahadh'. 'Fahadh' had a beautiful daughter 'Sazeefa'. Prince Hasan learnt all battle skills from his master Fahadh. During this, both fell in love with each other. His master came to know about the feelings of his disciple Hasan for his daughter. But he said to Hasan "My dear Hasan, I know that you love my daughter, if you can defeat the Evil 'Basheeya' then only you can marry my daughter. The evil Basheeya crucified the people who lives in the north of Egypt. And you must defeat the demon and kill him". Prince Hasan agreed his master's condition and replied "Master, I will definitely defeat the demon". After saying this, master Fahadh and Prince Hasan went to his Kingdom. King Juneed saw him and cheerfully welcomed them by saying "Welcome my dear son and master Fahadh! How are you...? Did my son trouble you?”. Master replied “King, I am fine. Your son is one of my best students. He had learnt almost all the battle skills, but we came here to ask you something”. King Juneed said “Ask without any hesitation, what do you want?” Master replied “King Juneed... the people of north were in a deep trouble, and they are ill treated by demon named Basheeya. It is the right time for your son to prove his ability by using the sword ‘Trisal Arsleen’. King Juneed fell in a deep thought; after retrieving, he said “Ok..., master I will definitely give my ‘Trisal Arsleen’ as my son is in a great stage to use the sword, and I am very happy with your words”. Master replied “Ok..., it’s very well. And tomorrow he must reach the north of the Egypt”. King said “We will prepare our son for that”. In the next morning, as planned, King gave his sword ‘Trisal Arsleen’ to his son and said ‘Dear Son, this is the power of our ancestors and I know you will defeat that Demon. But take care when you handle the sword. And I have to tell you one secret about the sword. This sword had three forms, and the last form is for immortal only. I mean only an immortal of our family can handle it. But I think you are unable to handle the last form. Prince said “Ok...”. After saying this, Prince Hasan started his journey and reached a village ‘Alexandria’. The people there stared at him as a stranger. Prince said “My dear people of Alexandria tell me where the demon lives”. One man from the crowd shouted “Who are you...?” Prince said “I am the Prince of Egypt”. The people was shocked and apologized “Sorry Prince, please excuse us”. Prince said “Ok, tell me where does he live?” In reply, they said “Dear Prince, you must stay here, he will come here for food”. Prince climbed down the horse. After some time, the evil Basheeya came there and he roared very terribly. Prince came out and saw the demon – he was very dreadful. The Prince shouted “Basheeya...

I will forgive you if you leave this village”. The demon said “I don’t need any forgiveness. These people of Alexandria are my slaves”. A war started between the Prince and Basheeya. The demon Basheeya lifted up his sword to attack the Prince. Within wasting a second, Prince attacked him and killed him. After the death of Basheeya, the people of Alexandria felt relieved. After killing the demon, Prince returned to his Kingdom. He received a grateful welcome by his father Juneed and his master. After his victory, King Juneed declared him the King of Egypt. As promised earlier by his master, Prince Hasan got married to his daughter Sazeefa. After some years, both King Juneed and Queen Safeena died.

The rule of Egypt was in the hand of Mahmood Abul Hussan al Asad. He also ruled the whole Egypt like his ancestors. Like earlier days, the people of Egypt were also happy by his rule. One day a person named Vazeer came to the King and said “My lord, I am the son of Odamy, he advised me to become a minister for you. Due to illness, he died. I am not perfect like him, but I had my own knowledge and some valuable powers, it may be useful to you. That’s why I came to you to have a position in your ministry. Will you accept me...?” At first, King was shocked listening to his father’s death and said “I am sorry for his death. No doubt, I accept you as my minister. Your father was so great in his way and I hope you will also prove yourself like him”. Vazeer thanked the King for appointing him as his minister. Abul’s wife Sazeefa gave birth to 5 babies at a time. King Abul and people of Egypt felt very happy by listening this happy news. Abul thanked God for His blessings. To make his kids’ birth memorable, he wanted to celebrate it with the people of his Kingdom. The celebration continued for days. The King named the eldest son Mahmood Humayun al Asad, followed by Mahmood Tamer al Asad, Hosney al Asad, Mahmood Hasan al Asad and Mahmood Haithem al Asad. Days turned to years – these 5 brothers entered the teenage. The 5 brothers learnt battle skills, but their father wanted to test their knowledge. He wanted to ask some questions about the five elements – fire, water, sky, earth and air.

At first, father Abul called Humayun and said “I want to ask you one question. If you give the right answer, I will give you a surprise gift”. Listening that, Humayun became very eager for that gift and said “I am ready for that question”.

Abul asked “Dear son, it is a basket which contains a lot of peanuts, but they are not used for eating, they are only for seeing. Tell me the answer”. Teen Humayun thought for some time and replied “The answer is Sky and peanuts are stars.” Father Abul felt very happy with his answer and said to Humayun “Excellent my son, and you will get your surprise soon.” Then he called his second son Tamer and said to Tamer “My dear Tamer I want to ask you a question if you give the right answer, you will get a surprise gift from me.” Tamer was also eager to answer the question. Father Abul asks him “Look son, it is a thing which cannot be stopped by anything, if anything tries wants to stop it, it will be destroyed by that, tell me the answer.” Tamer deeply thought and said “Father, I think that is water, because I saw river Nile, when it breaks the dam by its floating.”

Abul felt very happy and said to his “My dear son you will get your surprise gift soon.” After that King Abul called his third son and said to him “My dear Hosney, I want to ask you one question if you give the correct answer, I will give you a surprise gift.” Hosney showed very much interest to give the right answer.
